BROWNLOW ON PARTY TICKET

Commissioner Will Go to St. Louis Convention, Says Central Committee.

CLAYTON TURNED DOWN

Primaries Wednesday Will Be Perfunctory—Costello to Remain National Committeeman.

Commissioner Louis Brownlow will be one of the twelve delegates to represent the District at the Democratic national convention in St. Louis on June 14. This was announced last night by the central committee. It will be the first time a District Commissioner has been a delegate to a national political convention, it was declared.

The committee met last night in the offices of John P. Costello, in the Riggs Building, to outline plans for the Democratic primaries next Wednesday. It will conduct the primaries in accordance with the method endorsed by the 1912 primaries, when twelve delegates, each with a half vote, rather than six delegates with full votes, were sent to the Baltimore convention.

There will be no rivalry at the polls on Wednesday, the primaries, in fact, being simply perfunctory.

Clayton Is Turned Down.

The committee, of which Robert E. Mattingly is chairman, announced it had rejected the application of William McK. Clayton for Democratic national committeeman of the District. Clayton had required the primaries to be conducted under the auspices of the District Commissioners, Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade if his candidacy was to be considered. His stipulations were declared beyond the right of the committee to grant. His check for $200, as a candidate's fee, will be returned to him. John F. Costello, present national committeeman, is the only candidate in the field for the 1916 office.

The twelve candidates are Commissioner Brownlow, John B. Colpoys, Walter J. Costello, Charles E. Darr, Charles A. Douglas, James S. Eashy-Smith, George H. Emmons, George Killen, Robert E. Mattingly, E. Southard Parker, Thomas H. Pickford and Tucker K. Sands.

TALKS TO MASONS ON SECRETS OF SUCCESS

Rev. James S. Montgomery Speaker at Social Evening of Eureka Lodge.

"Human nature and reasons for success and failure" were subjects discussed before Eureka Chapter, No. 11, Royal Arch Masons, by Rev. James S. Montgomery in Masonic Temple last night. The speaker declared a friend of his purchased the famous race horse, Dan Patch, whose record for a mile was 1 minute and 59 seconds. He paid $8,000 for the animal. Its nearest competitor did the mile in 2 minutes and was valued at $3,000. With only a second difference in speed, the difference was worth $5,000 to his friend, Dr. Montgomery said.

He elaborated upon the moral and told of how success or failure may depend upon so small a matter as a second, and that such slight differences between two men meant wealth for the one and the average success for the other.

Dr. Montgomery was the principal speaker at the meeting. Entertainment features provided were sleight-of-hand tricks by L. White, a reading by L. Monta Bell, solos by Fred G. Schaffer and J. Van Horn, and short-story reading by Paul F. Grove.

Edelin was removed to Casualty Hospital in an unconscious condition, where it was said he was suffering from concussion of the brain.

Hartman was placed under arrest, charged with assault. Edelin's wife was notified immediately after the accident. At the hospital it was said that his condition was favorable.

DRAMA LEAGUE WINS APPLAUSE

Presents Four Short Plays to Record Audience at McKinley High School.

WILL REPEAT TONIGHT

League's Presentation of Dramas Sel-dom Seen on Stage Score Hit. Will Continue Policy.

The Drama League Players of Washington gave four short plays at McKinley High School last evening with a gratifying simplicity of representation. The program was well contrasted, consisting of a character comedy, a stirring tragedy, an amiable bit of fooling by Lord Dunsany, and a bright fantasy. The performance will be repeated tonight.

If, as announced, it is the intention of the players to make frequent presentation of plays which are not generally offered on the stage of the so-called commercial playhouse, the enthusiasm such as was shown last night offers ample encouragement for a continuance of the enterprise.

"Joint Owners in Spain" was the opening play, a humorous character study of inmates of a home for old women. Miss Laura Wessels was the tearful and fearful Miss Dyer; Miss Kathryn Drain, the cantankerous Mrs. Blair; Mrs. George A. Mosshart, the matron, and Miss Sara Koenigsberger, another inmate, Miss Fullerton.

"Riders of the Sea" Gem.

Then followed the gem of the evening, M. Synge's dramatic masterpiece, "Riders of the Sea," the scene of which is laid among fisher folk. Miss Ellis appeared as Maria, Miss Louise Wood as Nora, and Miss Almee Truan as Kathleen.

The Lost Silk Hat" was the third play. It had for its scene a fashionable London street, and was acted by five characters, impersonated by G. A. Lyon, W. B. Pain, W. B. Rice, and P. D. Merica. The evening was brought to a close with Bertram Bloch's humorous fantasy, "Maiden-Over-the-Wall," which presented the author and the Misses Dorothy Keen and Mildred Anderson.

TAFT AND BAKER STIR PEACE MEETING SESSIONS

any-price" assertions of William Jennings Bryan. He said that while Mr. Bryan was opposed to preparedness, he was very much in favor of sustaining the Monroe Doctrine, which, he said, to sustain, demands the utmost preparedness on the part of the United States.

Speaking on national policies, Mr. Taft asserted he believed in the Constitution of the United States, but did not believe in tinkering with it nor would he trust it over night with certain people in this country.

A virile address by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicting a terrific economic war after the European war, and dealing with the part labor will insist upon playing in any program looking to the establishment of more permanent peace, was read by Glenn Frank, of Northwestern University.

In commenting the purposes of the league, he said that it wisely refrains from attempting to stop the present war, for though it could stop it by a turn of his hand he would not, as the war would determine whether the future belongs to autocracy and militarism or to democracy, liberty and humanity. "They are the points at issue," he said, "and they have not yet been determined."

Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, told the delegates that perpetual international peace could be secured when public opinion was unanimous by the application of such methods as exist in the peaceful counties and States of the United States—the creation of an international court and an international police to enforce its decisions. He asserted that the masses of every country now are ready not only for a military but also an industrial peace.

Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, vice president of the Union Trust Company, denied the European war is being fought for commerce, but asserted that it is being fought for diplomacy.

Entangling Alliances Not Feared.

Discussing the possibility of entangling alliances through the formation of a peace league, Talcott Williams, director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University, declared the issues involved were not of entangling alliances but of pernicious isolation.

"It is a question," he said, "of whether the United States shall take its place at the head of a board composed of the seven leading nations of the world to promote perpetual peace, or sit in a place of solitary isolation and let the world sweeter in blood."

Prof. John Bates Clark, of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, made more direct allusion to the present struggle in Europe than any other speaker. He asserted that the winner of the

"ROOKIE'S" SILK DRESS LOST; INFORMS POLICE

Baltimore Girl Tells Bluecoats "Parade Uniform" Missing From Suitcase—Cannot Wear Silks at Camp.

A plot among the "rookies" at the military camp for girls at Chevy Chase to disrupt cold, army discipline by mingling soft silks and satins with the khaki campaign skirts was discovered by the local police last night, when "Rookie" Ruby A. McCormick reported the loss of a taffeta silk dress.

"Rookie" McCormick, whose home is in Baltimore, told the police the dress was packed in her suitcase when she left Baltimore. The stern officers in command of the camp probably will be startled by the discovery that some of their "recruits" have "dress-parade uniforms" tucked snugly in their tents.

The girls who came thus provided, however, are doomed to disappointment, for rough brown khaki will prevail in camp, the officers have declared.

WASHINGTON-VA. MEN ORGANIZE LOCAL UNION

Men Locked Out by Railway Company Given Charter by National Organization.

The fifty "locked-out" employees of the Washington and Virginia Railway Company last night were admitted to the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, which organization immediately will take steps to have them reinstated.

The men assembled at Clarendon and were informed by Rezin Orr, organizer for the national organization, that they had been granted the charter formerly held by the men of the Washington and Old Dominion line, who were denounced for declaring a second strike while arbitration was in progress.

The Washington and Virginia men, who now constitute Division No. 699 of the national organization, will receive $1 a week each while they are "locked out."

J. H. Washburn is president of the new division.
